School of Economics and Finance, University of St Andrews

MARTINMAS SEMESTER BROWN BAG SERIES
(2018-2019)

---

19 September — Luca Savorelli, University of St Andrews
Introduction, new feedback sheet, and digital writing

Vivek Prasad, University of St Andrews
Panopto video capture system

Luc Bridet, University of St Andrews
Moodle data collection and student engagement

Vibhor Saxena, University of St Andrews
Collaborating with the Economic Policy & Research Group

17 October — Ian Crawford, University of Oxford
Labor supply and random fields

31 October — Stephen Reicher, University of St Andrews
What is the self of self-interest? Thoughts on Psychology, identity and Economics

14 November — Ioannis Psaradellis, University of St Andrews
Technical Analysis and Discrete False Discovery Rate: Evidence from MSCI Indices

21 November — Matthew Polisson, University of St Andrews
Ever since Allais (and Ellsberg)

28 November — Kemal Ozbek, University of St Andrews
On Unique Identification of Beliefs and Tastes

05 December — Georgios Gerasimou, University of St Andrews
Preference intensity representation and revelation

School of Economics and Finance, University of St Andrews

CANDLEMAS SEMESTER SCHOOL SEMINARS
(2018-2019)

---

27 February   Constantine Sorokin, University of Glasgow

Pure information design in classic auctions

24 April   Mauro Papi, University of Aberdeen

Incomplete preferences and learning over a finite choice set

01 May   Hisayuki Yoshimoto, University of Glasgow

Auction mechanisms and treasury revenue: evidence from the Chinese experiment

22 May   Andriy Zapechelnyuk, University of St Andrews

Optimal quality certification

29 May   Anton Kolotilin, University of New South Wales, Sydney

Persuasion meets delegation